

BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS, VA., September 12.—With no hint of the "melancholy days," September came fresh from the sunshine society; her reign began auspiciously, and with mirth and music as her attendants she still holds in her grasp the joys of midsummer days.

The celebration of Labor Day in the Magic City, which was also featured as "Fling Day," brought to the colony here the treat of a week-end visit from A. J. Montague, ex-governor of Virginia, and now representing this old Commonwealth in the Congress of the United States. The personal magnetism, rare conversational gifts and well stored mind of Governor Montague so greatly entertained the women here that all sighed for a vote to give him for future preference when such need may come. He was en route to Roanoke, where he delivered an address on Flag Day.

Miss Clara S. Spence, a great niece of the genial host of Blue Ridge Springs, is here, representing Bedford county. Miss Spence, a social great-niece of Dr. Henderson, of Gordonsville, for many years clerk of the Virginia Senate, and of Colonel Edmund Henderson, a distinguished Confederate officer, and a citizen of Lexington. Dr. J. R. Henderson, of Richmond, who spent some time here in the early part of the season, is still here during the week for another taste of Blue Ridge comforts before resuming life in the capital city. As usual, he finds himself an important factor in the social circle here. Richmond, made an added attraction among the beaux by his arrival in search of vacation joys. Miss Mary C. Brown, of Norfolk, his sister, is a charming "flower" transplanted in the Blue Ridge garden for the autumnal start. The seaport city also sent Miss Helen Rogers and Mr. Rogers, valuable additions of the past week.

H. J. Stokes paid a neighborly visit from Blackstone to call on his two brothers, who have spent the entire season here. The eldest of these brothers is a member of the board of directors of Hampton-Sidney College, one of the leading institutions of learning in the State of Virginia.

The daily daint has its votaries, while the bowling alley resounds with the rolling balls on "strikes and spares."

Mrs. Thaddeus S. Clark, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Robert M. Butler, of Savannah, entertained with an after-dinner buffet luncheon on Wednesday evening, which was greatly enjoyed. Auction bridge and rump games were their daily amusements, with no loss of interest, and in the peaceful pastimes induced by crisp, cool days, bright moonlight, almost rivalled by the starlight of Jupiter.

H. M. Stanley and Mrs. Stanley, of Norfolk, were welcome arrivals of the week. Norfolk is doing her best to outdo the "home stretch" of the season, and has further contributed two attractive sisters, Misses May and Sally Nottingham. Miss May Nottingham is an accomplished reader of anatomy, and her power in this line are continually called into requisition by others who are curious to pry, by all possible means, into the mysteries of the future.

Mrs. Robert B. Adams and her son, R. B. Adams, of Roanoke, were agreeable arrivals of the week.

NATURAL BRIDGE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NATURAL BRIDGE, VA., September 12.—Fall visitors continue to arrive, and many are already booked for October, a favorite month here. As the Bridge is one of a chain of resorts in the mountains and lies in proximity to the White and the Hot, it inherits a great many who have spent the summer elsewhere and here for the fall season. The days are cool and exhilarating, and tempt one to leave the hot fire in the lobby and to walk and drive through this hill country. Fall is very popular with the men of the colony, while the women content themselves with embroidery and bridge when indoors. Motor trips to Lexington are very popular, and many merry parties go over to spend the morning among the interesting scenes of that town. On Tuesday, a motor excursion was run from Winston-Salem, N. C., to Natural Bridge and Luray, and offered an excellent opportunity for seeing these wonders.

On Monday, J. A. Mundy and Mrs. Mundy, of Natural Bridge, entertained at dinner in honor of Miss Helen Stevens, of Virginia Manor, and her guests. Those attending the dinner party were: Misses Helen Stevens, Betty Clark, Mary Moulton, Louise Selden and Emma Cary Breckenridge, of Richmond; Miss Nan Godwin, of Philadelphia; Charles M. Smith, of New York; and Rev. John Gravatt, of Richmond.

Judge and Mrs. W. B. Martin have returned to the Bridge, and find a cordial welcome.

W. B. Cole and N. H. Cole, of Petersburg, are spending their vacation here.

Mrs. M. D. Burrell and Miss Catherine H. Davies, of Richmond, and Miss Rebecca E. Phillips, of Lexington, spent several days here while on a motor trip through the mountains.

Burton Murrey, of Richmond, spent several days here last week with Mrs. Merton Murrey.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Winston, of Richmond, are early fall colonists, and are located in the Jefferson Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. M. of Washington, have joined the Bridge colony.

R. M. Hughes, Jr., from Norfolk, spent the week-end with his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Mercereau, of Staunton, came here while on a motor trip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Hoshour, of Virginia, spent part of their honeymoon at the Bridge.

Misses Florence B. Young and Lillian M. Kline, of Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tuttle, of Washington, D. C., are among the recent arrivals.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wright and Master Jacob W. Wright, of Hot Springs, spent the week-end here.

E. W. Massie, Jr., of Lynchburg, spent the week-end with his parents here.

Mrs. V. H. Plack and Master E. H. Plack, of New York, visited the Bridge for several days.

Misses Katie Murrell and Mary Murrell, of Lexington, and Misses E. B. Fisher, of Lynchburg, came to the Bridge for an outing.

Mr. A. M. Walker and Miss V. Walker, of New York, spent several days here while making a tour of Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pritchett and Mrs. W. C. Harris, of Danville, Va., came here while on a motor trip.

Major and Mrs. E. M. Tuttle and V. E. Lewis, of Birmingham, Ala., came here while on a motor trip north.

Misses Cora M. Fitch, of Bedford Falls, New York, and Ida L. Monhof, of Philadelphia, are among the latest arrivals.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. West, of Richmond, came here while on a motor trip.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Smith and sons, of Philadelphia, are now registered here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cochrane, of Boston, Mass., are here while on a motor trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Clinton Smoot, Misses Cora Smoot and Frances E. Smoot, Master Clinton Smoot, Jr., and Mrs. E. C. Plank, of Washington, D. C., made a large motor party that stopped here for several days.

Philo Darnell, of Richmond, spent Sunday at "Old Green Hill" with friends.

BALLSVILLE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BALLSVILLE, VA., September 12.—Mrs. Anne M. Crowder, of Huntington, W. Va., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. B. C. Wilson.

Miss B. C. Patten, of Richmond, is on a visit to her parents.

Miss Ethel H. Bagby is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Bagby.

Willis Halpin has returned home, after making the trip with his son, Rev. H. Halpin, to Harrisonburg.

Mrs. R. H. Humer Wood and son are at the Goodwin House for the week-end, registered by Walter Gray in visiting relatives in the city.

Philo Darnell, of Richmond, spent Sunday at "Old Green Hill" with friends.

Special Prices for Women's Fall Dresses

This store's tremendous buying power enables us to get prices from manufacturers that the ordinary store cannot obtain, and this is strongly evidenced in the prices quoted below.

The new Dresses show the basque effect that will be carried out this season in all dresses, showing tight figure lines in the waist. The skirt feature long tunic effects that reach almost to the bottom of the skirts; many of them are sheered, and all show wide flare lines. Some of the dresses are trimmed prettily with fancy materials at collars and cuffs; materials used most are satin and silk, in all the newest fall colorings, such as Russian green, niggerhead, brown and plum. Priced as follows for savings:
